The newsletter of the Eighth Air Force Historical Society
Oregon Chapter

Autumn 2022

MISSION STATEMENT

Our mission is to support the Eighth Air Force Historical Society (8AFHS) in perpetuating the history of The Mighty Eighth Air Force from 1942 to the present; to honor the memory of lost comrades; and to provide social events for 8thAFHS members living in Oregon and southern Washington.

The organization is open to anyone who has an interest in WWII aviation. It is dedicated to preserving and passing on the knowledge of those who served in air combat and ground support over Europe, the Balkans, North Africa, India, Japan and the Pacific theater, and Russia during the Second World War.

The Oregon Chapter of the 8th Air Force Historical Society holds public meetings every winter (February); spring (May); summer (August) and winter (November).

The Oregon Chapter of the 8th Air Force Historical Society is a private non-profit 501(c) (3) corporation. Donations to this organization are tax deductible.

General Meeting November 5, 2022

Our November Speaker will be Brig Gen Donna M. Prigmore, Commander, Oregon Air National Guard. She is responsible for the mission readiness and operational effectiveness of the 142d Fighter Wing in Portland, the 173d Fighter Wing in Klamath Falls, and the Joint Forces Headquarters (Air) in Salem. In this role, General Prigmore oversees development and deployment of operationally trained, equipped and mission-ready forces including a 24/7 Aerospace Control Alert posture in support of North American Aerospace Defense Command, the 125th Special Tactics Squadron, an F-15 training school-house responsible for producing approximately 30 pilots each year, and the 270th Air Traffic Control Squadron.

This is a MUST SEE PROGRAM. Brigadier Gen. Prigmore will discuss the OANG, current and future missions, the coverage area, and what they do. She will also tell some stories of OANG interdiction.

From the Editor

The Oregon Chapter of the 8th Air Force Historical Society began as a meeting organization of 8th Air Force service veterans of WWII, a place for air veterans to reconnect in the fellowship of their service. At its peak its membership comprised more than 140 8th Air Force veterans, along with other veterans of WWII air services.

With the passing of most of these veterans the nature of the organization has changed. The focus of the few dozen members remaining, the children of the grand air armada, is to remember the history of the air war and to learn about the people and events of aeronautical history to the present day.

With the approach of the upcoming Veterans Day we choose to remember the individual WWII air service veterans who graced this organization. Only a handful are present, living.

The list is of members who have passed on with Folded Wings, members who have not responded to the roll call, and members who have simply gone missing from the record and whose fate is unknown.

--Dwight Gruber, Editor

Treasury/Roster

The Oregon Chapter currently has a balance of $2,033.07. As of this writing there are 48 dues-paid members, out of a total membership of 62., with four Life Members and 11 WWII veterans.

Folded Wings

Since our last posting we have lost two WW II veteran members. The first was George Bickford Jr. George was a Flight instructor during WW II, and was a pioneer in instructing naval aviators on the use of navigational instruments. After the war, George remained in the Naval Reserves and was called to active duty again in 1952, to instruct young aviators bound for Korea. Our other veteran was Lt. Col. David Riddle. He flew in the 388th B.G. as a pilot. After the war he remained in the Air Force and took part in the Berlin Airlift.

Empty Chairs

By Donald L. Keller

It started out as an idea shared between W.W. II U.S. Army Air Force veterans of the 8th Air Force. The war had been over for more than 45 years. They wanted to get together to form a group to preserve the history and the memories of their service. But to a man, they each wanted to honor and preserve the memories of those who paid the ultimate price. Each one of them paid a price that would remain as a part of their lives forever. They had all for their country and their world. Most of them had continued their service in the Air Force Reserve or Oregon Air National Guard.

Andy Brown contacted Dr. Everett Peery and other veterans, to plan the new organization. The group originally met in each other's homes, and became the Oregon Chapter of the 8th Air Force Historical Society. Andy Brown would serve as its first president. They decided to meet at the Beaverton Elks Lodge #1989, and held their first meeting there in 1993. The Elks Lodge was chosen because a large number of the veterans were members, and it was big enough to accommodate the banquets. The attendance would range from 135 to 160 people. The group was formed for the veterans, but non-WW II veterans could join as Associate members. They could attend, but not vote or hold office. Attendees filled the Grand Lodge Ballroom, overflowing into the Bar and the Ladies' cardroom. Everyone would have to call in advance to be sure of enough food. If you did not call in, you did not eat. It took two lunch lines to accommodate everyone.

The speakers were varied, but always excellent. My first meeting was the third group meeting. Fred Paul, who had a brother in the 96th B.G. who was killed in action, asked if I would help him as Program Chairman, and I soon found myself as the P.C. As a B-17 enthusiast, I was in Second Heaven. Everywhere were pilots, copilots, mechanics, and gunners, all sharing incredible memories. The speakers included Pacific B-17 vets, Marine Corps aces, a Flying Tiger, a member of Glenn Miller's Orchestra, and a female Aeronautical Engineer who was an inspector on B-17s at Boeing. Every meeting was magical.

I started chasing B-17s because I saw 2 of them in formation in 1967. I started because of the airplanes, but I stayed because of the wonderful people I met in this organization. They took me into their fold, gave me and understanding of their times and service, but more importantly they showed me their friendship and human side. They opened up and showed me the marks that war can leave. No one hates war more than a veteran. They know the cost firsthand.

A gunner in the 390th fought many battles after the war including racism and alcoholism. He was one of the most gentle and forgiving men I have known. He was put into a care center for hospice, but had to be moved. The colors, shadows, and smells reminded him of his P.O.W. days. A Lt. Col. Pilot friend of mine was a good friend, but was always very demanding. Someone finally explained that he only did that with people he liked, and would spend his energy helping them to succeed. He could see their potential. One B-24 pilot appeared on the Dick Cavett Show with the Japanese pilot who rammed his aircraft, trying to bring it down. He would speak to our group 3 times. He was topped by Stanley P. Richardson. Stan did not speak, he held court. When talking with Stan, he made you feel like you were the only 2 people in the world. Stan spoke to our group on 4 occasions.

Another former P.O.W. would keep candy, candy bars, or other provisions in his pockets. He had been close to starvation before, and would not let that happen again. One veteran would show up at the meeting, not have lunch, but would put buttered rolls in his pocket, so as not to be caught unaware again. Some P.O.W.s were forced to sign secrecy agreements upon their return to the U.S. at Camp Lucky Strike in New Jersey. Shortly before one veteran's death, the statute of limitations ran out on the agreement. He showed me the documentation of a forced march to evade the Russians. During the march more than 280 U.S. GIs were interred in a Nazi Concentration Camp overnight. The next morning, less than 200 were marched out again. He had the German records to verify it. One of our speakers mentioned that while on a journalistic tour, they were waiting on a railroad platform. Their Guide remained uncharacteristically quiet. Suddenly the journalist was overcome by an intense feeling of dread and bone chilling cold. When she told the Guide, he informed her that this was the platform for prisoners on their way to Dachau. I will never forget the look on 43rd B.G. veteran Dutch Heichel's wife's face, as he described his experiences in a Japanese P.O.W. Camp.

The meetings were also a time for joy and fellowship. The February meetings were always Ladies meetings. A B-24 gunner used to call me up every year to reserve a seat for "me and my Best Gal." It was always a joy to watch them. Stan Greer was always ready to entertain us with his feats of magic. He learned magic before the war, and would use it to pass the time in the P.O.W. camp, and entertain the other GIs. When the time came for a new Group Treasurer, someone nominated Stan Greer. Clint Gruber raised the concern that we were nominating for Treasurer a man who made things disappear for a living.

Another delight was Santa Bob Kreutzer. He came home on leave, and was asked by family and friends to play Santa at Christmas. He did not realize that it would be a lifetime role. It would be reenacted at parties, children's gatherings and for the children in all the local hospitals.

I must mention our first Chaplain, Roland Stewart, a quiet and unassuming man of the cloth. He was a former B-24 crewman who always had time and encouragement for anyone.

These large banquets were great, but very frustrating. There were so many great people, and never enough time to talk to them. Tom Davis and I hosted a mini meeting at my mother's house. It was done for Roy Mousty, 388th B.G., Dick Pressey, 91st B.G., and Ernie Zapf, 100th B.G. It was like watching a group of children who hadn't seen each other in years. The stories, laughs and tears were unbelievable. Thankfully one of our members got it all on video. This is what each of our meetings was like, increased a hundred fold.

The Elks have a tradition of leaving an empty chair at each meeting. When we set up the room for our meetings, I look out at the empty chairs before the start of the meeting. To me they are not empty, they are filled with dear friends who have gone west, and are no longer. They will always be there to me. I do not want to nor can I ever forget them.
